

A Message to Our Valued Clients During the COVID-19 Pandemic

April 20, 2020

As we adapt to a new “normal” during the COVID-19 pandemic experience, please know our thoughts and prayers are with you and all of those affected by this virus in the United States and around the world. At Maldjian Law Group LLC (MLG), the well-being and safety of our team, you and your teams, family, friends, and our surrounding communities are our top priority. As we have been closely monitoring the evolving impact of the virus, we have implemented, and will continue to implement, ongoing safety measures to protect the health and wellbeing of our attorneys and professional staff, while also maintaining the highest level of intellectual property legal service to you, our valued clients!

We are committed to “flattening the curve” for everyone’s mutual benefit. To this end, on March 17, 2020, we transitioned our entire workforce to a fully functioning remote access operation. Our remote operations plan includes enhancements to our already established remote work capabilities, which enables our attorneys and professional staff to continue to be responsive to your IP legal needs despite any business interruptions caused by this pandemic. You can continue to reach out to us by phone and email as usual. We have full access to our work flow systems and documents so we may continue to handle your matters seamlessly.

We wish for everyone to remain healthy, safe, and sound as we work through these challenging and unprecedented times.

To help you navigate, from an IP law and business perspective, we encourage you to read our recent alerts from the USPTO. You can find these alerts under the “News” tab on our website <https://mlgiplaw.com/news/>. Should you have any questions or concerns, please do not hesitate to reach out to us.

Wishing you all good health. Stay safe!

John Maldjian, Esq.
